Insight Recruitment

Recruit the best staff, safely and efficiently

Effective recruitment processes can reduce both costs and compliance risk

Managing the recruitment process of both individuals and firms can be expensive and time consuming. Recruiting the right people in accordance with regulatory and company policy, is key to growing your business in a safe and compliant fashion.

Ensuring that all aspects of a new recruit's attributes and history are considered and approved, is key not only to making sure that the regulator is satisfied but to pro-actively manage the risk to the organisation. This process can involve many different stages, processes and participants, both within the organisation and without.

Managing all of these separate strands can be problematic without a central system and administrative support.

Insight Recruitment provides systemised support for this administrative process, ensuring that policy is followed and that records are kept to demonstrate compliance. Insight is configured to represent the recruitment process and ensures that all steps are followed and each participant is fully aware of their responsibilities.

A centralised electronic recruitment record contains all relevant information and is accessible by all involved parties to ensure that the recruitment process is managed in the most effective way and that required documentation or activity records are instantly to hand.

Each recruitment case is monitored to ensure all steps are completed in the right order and in a timely fashion, ensuring new recruits are brought on board swiftly and with surety.
